

The Public Advertiser, 17 September 1789

By a letter from Madrid, we have received intelligence, that the three ships destined for making discoveries, under the command of Don Alexander Malaspina, set sail from Cadiz the 30th of last month. The artists and men of letters engaged, are of the first reputation. For discoveries relative to natural history, Don Anthony Pineda; for botany, Don Louis Neo; for the drawing of plants, Don Philip Boza; for landscape and perspective, Joseph Pozo, of the Academy of Seville; for the collecting and drying of the plants, Joseph Guio.

The St. James's 10 September 1789

By a letter from Madrid, we have received intelligence, that the three ships destined for making discoveries, under the command of Don Alexander Melaspina, set sail from Cadiz the 30th of last month. The artists and men of letters engaged are of the first reputation. For discoveries relative to Natural History, Don Anthony Pineda; for Botany, Don Lewis Née; for the drawing of plants, Don Philip Bauza; for landscape and perspective, Joseph Pozo, of the Academy of Seville; for the collecting and drying of the plants, Joseph Guio.

By a letter from Madrid, we have received intelligence, that the three ships destined for making discoveries, under the command of Don Alexander Malaspina, set sail from Cadiz the 30th of last month. The artists and men of letters engaged, are of the first reputation. For discoveries relative to Natural History, Don Anthony Pineda; for Botany, Don Louis Nee; for the drawing of plants, Don Philip Bauza; for Landscape and Perspective, Joseph Pozo, of the Academy of Seville; for the collecting and drying of the plants, Joseph Guio.

The expense the Court has been at for this voyage, in astronomical and mathematical instruments, and for every thing necessary to make it a voyage of useful discovery, have been extremely liberal, and are a proof of his Catholic Majesty's zeal for the progress of the Sciences.